“High productivity” is masking an exhausted workforce

- 60% of people say they feel less connected to their team after shifting to remote work
- 39% of managers believe it is harder to ensure team engagement and connection remotely
- 30 % of remote managers believe their teams are innovative
- 54% feel overworked and 39 % feel exhausted
- 38% employees ...and 61% leaders (!) are thriving

Microsoft Work Trend Index, 2021
